For this, i used the OGL view and the GLMatrix class. In the class called drawViewPort i draw a full screen quad which is written in the snippet below. The code for transforming the objects while touching a point is displayed in the OnTouchEvent class, it is called on all the objects.

```
void OnDraw()
{
    GL.Viewport(0, 0, WIDTH, HEIGHT);
    GL.Clear(GL.COLOR_BUFFER_BIT |
              GL.DEPTH_BUFFER_BIT);
    GL.MatrixMode(MatrixMode.Modelview);
    GL.LoadIdentity();

Nowadays, for an increased survival rate of very low birth weight infants, there is a greater attention for the management of their energy intake and the interactions between diet and sleep patterns. The infant feeding association were to analyze the feeding and sleep habits of neonatal patients. This was a prospective study, performed in a Brazilian Neonatal Intensive Care Unit. The sample consisted of 55 neonates treated from January to August of 2008. All infants were hospitalized and had 36 weeks or more of gestational age, birth weight between 500 and 2500 g and no major congenital abnormalities. Patients were divided into two groups: nutrition support and no nutrition support. The feeding and sleep patterns were evaluated using a questionnaire. Chi-squared test was used for statistical analysis. The nutrition support group had a total average of 162.9 hours of infusion and 22.1 hours per day. The average number of feeding per day was  $8.6 \pm 2.5$ . The infants in this group were fed the most through bottle while spoon and feeding tubes were not used. The sleep pattern of these infants had an average of 17.8 hours of daily in-hospital sleep. The nutrition support infants had a longer total, daily and in-hospital average of infusion and longer interval between feeding. The nutrition support infants spent more time to reach the adequate caloric intake. The nutrition support patients showed more dry skin and crusted lesions, but no statistical difference was observed ( $p > 0.05$ ). The initial result shows that the nutrition support group had better sleep habits. This study was an important contribution to the clinical nutrition practice, since it demonstrates the need for a comprehensive nutritional care for neonatal patients. f678ea9f9e
